The Great Sphinx - The oldest monumental sculpture in history and the most famous statue on the face of the earth was created during the rule of Pharaoh Khafre (2558–2532 BC). The design of the Great Sphinx has based on the impressive design of the mythical sphinx which displayed the face of Khafre. The statue is the source of great speculations about its origin and age as it attracted many theories of pseudohistory and pseudoarchaeology.

The Valley Temple - The heavenly valley temple of Chephren is composed of 16 massive limestone pillars which are covered with polished red-pink granite that acted as the centre of the reception, Mummification, and purification of the royal bodies of the 4th dynasty.

The Egyptian Museum - The Epic Egyptian Museum was created to offer a magical road that displays the brilliance and glamour of the ancient Egyptian Civilization that dates back to more than 5000 years.

Mohamed Ali Mosque - It was constructed between 1830 and 1848, the mosque was named "The Alabaster Mosque" because most of its walls were made out of pure alabaster. The mosque is a replica of the Blue Mosque in Istanbul.

Coptic Cairo - Coptic Cairo is a historic district in Egypt, renowned for its rich cultural and religious significance. Located in Old Cairo, it is home to some of the oldest Christian churches in the country, including the Coptic Orthodox Church of St. Sergius and Bacchus. These architectural treasures showcase intricate Coptic art and offer glimpses into Egypt's early Christian history. The area also houses the Coptic Museum, a repository of artifacts, manuscripts, and textiles preserving the heritage of the Coptic community. Beyond its religious importance, Coptic Cairo's narrow streets and vibrant markets provide a charming backdrop for exploring the cultural tapestry of this ancient district.

Khan El Khalili – Khan El Khalili, one of Cairo's oldest and most famous souks, is a bustling marketplace steeped in history and culture. Lose yourself in the labyrinthine alleys filled with shops selling everything from spices and textiles to jewellery and souvenirs. Experience the vibrant atmosphere, bargaining with friendly merchants, and savouring traditional Egyptian street food amidst the charming chaos of this iconic bazaar.

Bahariya Oasis

Bahariya Oasis – This is located in Egypt's Western Desert, is a lush, verdant region about 370 kilometres southwest of Cairo. Renowned for its rich history and archaeological significance, it contains numerous ancient ruins, including the Valley of the Golden Mummies, a Greco-Roman necropolis. The oasis is also famous for its natural beauty, featuring hot springs, palm groves, and distinctive black hills made of iron-rich minerals. In recent years, it has become a popular destination for tourists seeking a blend of history, culture, and natural wonders.

Museum of Golden Mummies - in Egypt, located in the Bahariya Oasis, houses an extraordinary collection of mummies from the Greco-Roman period. Discovered in 1996, these mummies are notable for their elaborate gold coverings and intricate burial practices, reflecting the fusion of Egyptian and Roman traditions. The museum offers a fascinating glimpse into the burial customs, art, and daily life of this era, showcasing the wealth and cultural significance of the region during antiquity. Visitors can explore well-preserved mummies, gilded masks, and various artifacts that illustrate the opulence and craftsmanship of the period.

Tombs of the Nobles - located on the west bank of the Nile in Luxor, Egypt, are a series of ancient burial sites belonging to high-ranking officials and nobles from the New Kingdom period. These tombs are renowned for their detailed wall paintings and inscriptions, which offer invaluable insights into the daily life, religious beliefs, and social structures of ancient Egypt. Unlike the grandiose royal tombs, the Tombs of the Nobles are smaller and more personal, often depicting scenes of agriculture, banquets, and family life. This site provides a unique and intimate perspective on the lives of Egypt's elite, revealing their roles and contributions to society.

Alexander Temple - also known as the Temple of Alexander the Great, is located in the Bahariya Oasis of Egypt. This temple is unique as it is one of the few dedicated to the Macedonian conqueror who was revered as a god in Egypt. Constructed during the 4th century BCE, the temple features inscriptions and reliefs depicting Alexander in the traditional regalia of an Egyptian pharaoh, emphasizing his acceptance by the local populace. The temple not only highlights the blend of Greek and Egyptian cultures but also stands as a testament to Alexander's influence and the widespread reach of his empire.

Temple of Meffetla - The Temple of Meffetla, located in the Bahariya Oasis, is an ancient Egyptian site that dates back to the Pharaonic era. This small, yet significant temple is dedicated to the local deity Meffetla, whose worship was closely tied to the fertility and prosperity of the oasis. Though less grand than other Egyptian temples, it offers insight into the religious practices and architectural styles of the period, featuring characteristic hieroglyphs and carvings. The temple's ruins, set amidst the lush landscape of the oasis, provide a fascinating glimpse into the region's rich history and cultural heritage.

English House - The English House, perched atop a hill in the Bahariya Oasis, is a relic from the British colonial period in Egypt. This once-luxurious villa was built in the early 20th century for British officials, offering stunning panoramic views of the surrounding desert and oasis. Though now in ruins, the house remains a popular tourist attraction, known for its historical significance and the striking contrast it provides against the backdrop of the ancient landscape. Visitors often hike to the site to enjoy the vistas and reflect on the colonial history of the region.

Black Desert - The Black Desert, located near the Bahariya Oasis in Egypt, is a striking and unique landscape characterized by its dark volcanic hills and blackened rock formations. These geological features, created by ancient volcanic activity, give the desert its name and a distinct, otherworldly appearance. The area's black basalt rocks and expansive sandy plains create a dramatic and eerie environment, making it a popular destination for adventure seekers and photographers. The Black Desert's stark beauty and geological significance provide a captivating contrast to the more commonly known golden sands of the Egyptian desert.

'DISCOVER YOUR PATH TO ADVENTURE.'

White Desert - The White Desert, situated near the Farafra Oasis in Egypt, is renowned for its surreal and breathtaking landscape of chalk-white rock formations. These natural sculptures, shaped by wind and sand erosion over millennia, create an array of fantastical shapes, including mushrooms, icebergs, and otherworldly figures. The desert's bright, almost blinding white appearance contrasts sharply with the surrounding golden sands, offering a unique and mesmerizing experience. The White Desert is a protected area and a popular destination for tourists, who come to marvel at its beauty and camp under its star-studded night skies.

Valley of El Haize - The Valley of El Haize, located in the Bahariya Oasis of Egypt, is a picturesque area known for its natural springs and lush palm groves. This valley provides a refreshing contrast to the surrounding arid desert, with its greenery and abundant water sources offering a haven for local wildlife and vegetation. Historically, the valley has been a vital part of the oasis's agricultural life, supporting the cultivation of dates and other crops. Today, it is a serene spot for visitors to relax and enjoy the natural beauty and tranquility of the oasis environment.

Crystal Mountain - Crystal Mountain, situated between the Bahariya Oasis and the Farafra Oasis in Egypt, is a natural marvel composed of shimmering quartz crystals embedded in limestone. This small but stunning mountain is often referred to as the "Jewel of the Desert" due to its sparkling appearance under the sun. The site is popular among tourists and geologists alike, who come to admire the unique geological formations and the mountain's iridescent beauty. Crystal Mountain's captivating landscape offers a glimpse into the natural wonders of the Egyptian desert, making it a must-visit attraction.

Valley of Agabat - The Valley of Agabat, located in Egypt's Western Desert near the White Desert, is a hidden gem known for its dramatic and picturesque scenery. This valley features towering limestone formations, golden sand dunes, and strikingly beautiful landscapes that create a sense of otherworldly tranquillity. The unique topography and serene atmosphere of Agabat make it a favourite spot for photographers, nature enthusiasts, and adventurers seeking solitude and inspiration. The valley's remote location adds to its allure, offering a peaceful escape from the more frequented tourist sites.

Camping in the White Desert - Camping in the White Desert of Egypt offers a surreal and unforgettable experience amidst a landscape of fantastical chalk rock formations and vast, unspoiled sands. As the sun sets, the white rocks take on a magical glow, and the night sky, free from light pollution, becomes a canvas of stars. Campers can explore the unique geological features by day and enjoy the serene, almost ethereal environment by night. The experience often includes traditional Bedouin meals and storytelling around a campfire, providing a perfect blend of natural beauty, cultural immersion, and adventure.
